Clabough named 'coach of year'

Appomattox County High School varsity coach Howard Clabough was named area coach of the year by the Lynchburg News and Daily Advance.

In a story published last Thursday, the nearby daily newspaper cited Clabough's 77-33 winning record in five seasons as head baseball coach as instrumental in his being picked for this honor.

Clabough, a Farmville native, coached at Varina High School outside of Richmond before moving to Appomattox. While at Varina, he compiled a 107-35 record as head baseball coach.

Clabough's teams have made it to the district tournament each of the last four years, and his teams have won regional title twice in the past four seasons.

Recreation schedule is listed

By Appomattox Recreation Department

Recreational activities offered

The Appomattox County Recreation Department, which was established after a steering committee was formed, in December of 1982, offered its first slate of recreation activities last summer.

The recreation department, which operates on a county budget of approximately $13,000, offers instruction in "lifetime" recreational activities such as tennis, swimming and gymnastics. The department also offers classes in recreational activities such as arts and crafts and drama.

"We work in conjunction with the school system's recreation program" notes Bob Hudson, recreation director for the county's Recreation. "The school's program places more emphasis on competitive team sports, such as baseball, football, and basketball," Hudson adds.

Appomattox County "High School coach Gordon Bragg, administers the school system's recreation program, which has been in effect for more than 20 years.

"We're very pleased with the response we've had to the program offerings this which, according to the survey, people in Appomatto County would like to see offered in their recreation program.

The questionnaire, which included 30 recreational activities, indicated that there is also considerable interest in County for programs dealing with topics such as hiking, soccer, and skiing.

"The survey was very helpful to us," notes Clabough. "We're considering ways to provide more recreational programs in the future. One of the problems is finding instructors for the various programs people want."

Rhondenizer on dean's list

Donna Rhodenizer has been named to the Dean's List of Central Virginia Community College for the spring quarter.

Donna is majoring in Administration of Justice and is the daughter of Special Agent and Mrs. Cliff Rhodenizer of Appomattox.

Oceanography class offered

Among Longwood College's offerings this summer is a four week course in Oceanography, an interdisciplinary science that includes the physical, chemical, geological, and biological aspects of the world's oceans.

The course fulfills requirements for teachers seeking endorsement in earth and space science and for certification in general science and biology. Undergraduate students with some science background also may enroll. The course carries four graduate or undergraduate credits.

Topics to be studied include: the history of oceanographic exploration; sediments and the rocks beneath the sea; the chemical composition of sea water; and marine plants and animals.

A two-day field trip to the Virginia Institute of Marine Science is included in the course.

Classes will meet Monday through Friday from 9 to 10:50 a.m. Afternoon sessions are scheduled on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday from 1:30 to 3:20 p.m.

Billy S. Batts and Jean Austin, both members of Longwood's science faculty since 1963.

On campus housing in air-conditioned residence halls is available.

For information on tuition/fees, housing, and registration, call Dr. Billy Batts at 804/392-9353.

Donna Guill Blume receives degree

Donna Guill Blume received her Bachelor of Science degree in nursing from the University of North Carolina at Charlotte on May 12.

Among her honors were the faculty award as Outstanding Student, and her induction into Gamma Iota Chapter of Sigma Theta Tau, National Honor Society for nurses. During her college career she maintained a 4.0 average.

Donna is a 1965 graduate of Appomattox High School and a graduate of Richmond Memorial Hospital School of Nursing. She is presently employed as Cardiac Patient Educator at Charlotte Memorial Hospital and Medical Center in Charlotte, North Carolina.

She and her husband, Larry, are the parents of two children and reside in Matthews, North Carolina.

Donna is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse T. Guill of Appomattox.
